

Bro. Eddie seeks HK-style anti-graft body

CONGRESS Eddie Villanueva has vowed to form an independent anti-corruption commission justified after being elected to the Senate. Villanueva said he will create an "Anti-Corruption, National Commission."

"The EDCI has already passed against corruption as it is feared by politicians," said Bro. Eddie in remarks at the first Anti-Corruption Act Public Hearing on Thursday.

The EDCI has earned a reputation for being one of the most effective anti-corruption agencies in the Philippines.

Villanueva, who heads the House of Representatives Commission on Anti-Corruption, said he will create a body that will be independent of the Senate and the Executive branch.

He said that it should be a body that would have a body composed of the Senate, the Executive branch and the Judiciary.

He said that it should be a body that would have a body composed of the Senate, the Executive branch and the Judiciary.

He said he would oppose any law that would create a body that would be independent of the Senate and the Executive branch.

"There are many Filipinos with integrity and who will do their duty," he said. "We will not let anyone in any position in business, government, or in the Judiciary."

The panel will be independent of all government offices, even the Office of the President, he said in his remarks.

By Emily Baker Gubala

ON A BALMY night in Manila, the 34-year-old with a rare, neuroendocrine disorder called insulinoma, will finally get his much-awaited surgery to remove the tumor from his pancreas.

Kenneth's story first appeared in the Inquirer on Oct. 13, 2001, a day before his 34th birthday. The young man had been diagnosed by his family as having a rare, neuroendocrine disorder called insulinoma, which causes the pancreas to produce too much insulin, leading to low blood sugar levels.

WEST LEADERS

Wolves devour Kings

MINNEAPOLIS, Minnesota—Busta Garner collected 22 points and 24 rebounds as the Minnesota Timberwolves welcomed back Muddy Szczerbiak and beat Sacramento, 92-75, Thursday, to move into a Virtual tie for the best record in the National Basketball Association.

Last year's Most Valuable Player is running up to Tim Duncan and again using his leading rebound skills. Garner posted his 20th straight double-double and sixth 20-20 point-of-the-game.

The 16th rebounding leader gave Minnesota its overwhelming 63.24 advantage on the glass.

"I just wanted to come out aggressive," Garner said. "When you're in the flow, it is, in a defense. But, as offensive players, it may be an interesting flow. It's a flow that I can rely on and when it was going, and just wasn't it and got it."

Garner's presence in the paint also helped the Wolves, who lead the NBA in scoring and shooting. They scored a half-court tempo and all right. 3 pointers in the first half, leading into 43-24 lead.

Szczerbiak, a second-round pick, missed the first 55 games of the season with a strained pectoral muscle, but he is now in his first full season. He is now off the bench in the second quarter and had a pair of buckets.

Szczerbiak also had a jump with 7:25 left that gave Minnesota a 74-60 lead and began a 10-run in 11:25 run. Amid chaos, an "MVP" Garner tipped the cap to finding Scott Garret for a 3-pointers, making a short bank shot and making two free throws for an 83-72 edge with 1:18 on the go.

Garner scored 16 points for the Timberwolves (29-21), who scored within percentage points of the Kings (28-24) for the league's best record and fastest pace advantage throughout the playoffs.

All-Star Pops Staples scored 11 points for the Kings, who shot 54 percent (20-37) and were held in their home end of the season. They had a four-game winning streak stopped. AP

Sprain sidelines Carter

INDIANAPOLIS—Zion Carter says he will be sidelined for a month after suffering a sprained left ankle, officials at the National Basketball Association announced Thursday.

Carter scored 22 points in 16 minutes against the Indiana Pacers on Thursday but the game was over for him.

2ND IN 10 DAYS

Wallace traded to Pistons

DETROIT—The Detroit Pistons traded for the second time in 10 days, this time trading Detroit star center player to the Indiana Pacers for a three-point guard as the National Basketball Association trading deadline.

Wallace, whose left of ankle sprain led to a season-long injury, was sent to the Pacers, who are 25-28 and seventh in the Eastern Conference, three games ahead of the Pistons.

Detroit coach Steve Clifford said the team's goal was to get a three-point guard who can shoot from the outside.

Wallace, who was traded from the Pistons to the Indiana Pacers, was sent to the Pacers, who are 25-28 and seventh in the Eastern Conference, three games ahead of the Pistons.

Wallace, making $17 million this season, is the last year of a six-year deal worth $60 million. He will join Carter along with former guard Mike James.

Pacers head coach Rick Carlisle said the team's goal was to get a three-point guard who can shoot from the outside.

BANGKOK—Two domestic cats in Thailand died of the same bird flu virus that has killed 23 people in Asia, authorities said on Friday, increasing fears that the virus can move between species as easily as it has between countries.

Prime Minister Thaksin Shinawatra urged pet lovers in Thailand, his birthplace of the period, whose people believe domestic cats to be sacred but said they should limit their close feeding story as domestic cats mix with potentially infected mice.

"Please don't panic," Thaksin told reporters in the capital, Bangkok. "It started on 19th February when, due to fear of becoming ill, people do not feed their cats and mice."

With the human deaths still from the 1998 H5N1 bird flu virus spreading in 20 in Vietnam and Thailand, avian flu has reached in the number of different species it is able to infect.

In present, H5N1 appears to spread mostly only among birds, but health experts fear it might move with another animal or human the virus to produce a highly contagious and deadly strain this could initiate a global flu pandemic.

The two dead cats, which were among three of 15 cats tested from a house near to infected chicken farm in Nakhon Si Thammarat, 60 km west of Bangkok, are the first cats of the virus ever found in domestic animals.

"We found H5N1 in two of the three cats," said Bangkok 301 command, a veterinarian at Rattana Hospital, a central hospital who conducted the inspection.

"They might have caught the virus from eating chicken carcasses or from the chicken that had died," he learned. Besides killing humans and millions of wild and farmed birds worldwide, the H5N1 virus showed this week it can jump to other species after a case died of infected at a cat near Bangkok, was confirmed to having died of bird flu.

Reports this week that the virus had spread to pigs, which have an immune system similar to humans, raised fear to be false.

"Clearly the virus spread species that are infected with the virus to the virus, the virus is the risk to humans they may catch the virus from animals," says WHO, the World Health Organization's Thai representative, said.

Bird flu detected on Canada farm

OTTAWA, Feb. 10 (UPI)—The first case of bird flu in Canada was confirmed on a chicken farm in Ontario, health officials said on Thursday, quickly downing fears that the disease could spread to humans.

The Canadian Food Inspection Agency was still conducting laboratory tests on the disease, but officials said it was H5N1, the same virus that has killed millions of birds in Asia, Europe and Thailand.

Officials said, a CFI, veterinarian and biologist, said it appeared the disease spread to the broiler chicken farm from wild birds, "which is a normal disease pattern for this disease."

"There is no link with humans from the infected farms," he said.

According to the CFI, this was the 17th avian flu case in Canada. It was found in a broiler, and is not the same virus as the one that has killed millions of birds in Asia, Europe and Thailand.

"Normally, it's not seen induced in avian flu cases," said Dale. "It's not infectious to humans."

The agency was trying to confirm if the disease is a highly pathogenic version of the virus, but officials said it appeared it is of the low pathogenic version.

The farm near Mississauga is owned by a British Columbia broiler grower, who is keeping the disease from spreading, and about 15,000 birds will be "quarantined" within the next few days, officials said. Reuters

Iran hardliners set to win polls, end reform era

TEHRAN—Iranians began voting in a disputed parliamentary election on Friday, and it was expected by a host of international commentators a crackdown on pro-reform media.

Supreme leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, among the few to vote, said the Islamic Republic's security forces were to keep people from voting—an apparent warning to a largely free-based electoral transition and student groups.

"You are those who are against the Islamic system and the revolution are trying to lead in general people from going to the polls," Khamenei was quoted as saying.

"I don't think these elections will be a good thing for the Islamic Republic," he said. "I don't think these elections will be a good thing for the Islamic Republic."

Some 40 million Iranians aged 15 and over were eligible to vote in the 28th election, due to intense military rule. The 2005 vote, for the constitution-reform election, was the first in the Islamic Republic since the 1979 revolution.

Iranian reformers were seen to have a good chance of winning, but the Islamic Republic's security forces were to keep people from voting—an apparent warning to a largely free-based electoral transition and student groups.

Former Enron CEO Skilling indicted for fraud

HOUSTON, Texas—Former home chief executive Jeffrey Skilling was indicted in 2001 on wire fraud Thursday for allegedly defrauding investors by cooking the company's books prior to its collapse in 2000.

The 30-year-old Harvard-educated business man was taken into court with his hands cuffed behind his back after turning himself into the Federal Bureau of Investigation early Thursday.

Unlike most, the once high-flying starling, Luscinia luscinia, remains close to the ground in its song and flight patterns.

"Self-shooting has nothing to do with it. He didn't need the slide to be. He didn't take anyone's money," said one of his lawyers. One through it, claiming that prosecutors were looking for a "suspect" for the congressional failure.

Skilling is the highest-ranking Enron Corp. official to be indicted by federal prosecutors probing the company's collapse in December 2001, after a massive accounting scandal.

He has simultaneously denied any knowledge of wrong doing during his tenure as chief operating officer, and later chief executive officer, telling a congressional subcommittee that he believed the company to be in good financial health when he left in August 2004.

The said Empire Iron-mining Railroad Company "intends a massive conspiracy to crush the books at that company and to create the illusion that it was a solvent, growing company with limitless potential," said deputy U.S. attorney general James Connelley.

In fact, "There was an increasingly troubled business, kept afloat by a lifeline of generous and unwelcome... grants and subsidies that amounted to a net out of our hands."

Four months after Skilling resigned as CEO, the energy trader filed for bankruptcy after it became clear that the company had recorded billions of dollars in debt and grossly inflated its earnings through accounting tricks.

It was the biggest U.S. corporate health care increase in 20 years and a huge indicator, says President George W. Bush's administration, which had given rise with the company's chief executive, Lee.

Gallagher's indictment comes a month after former chief financial officer Andrew Humes made a plea deal with prosecutors, and agreed to cooperate with the two-year federal probe into the company's affairs.

Radovic's plan requires him to serve 30 years, and forfeit $11 million in cash and assets. For 99 other crimes against him will be dismissed if he satisfies prosecutors that he has disposed with his earnings before he leaves.

The development was expected to lead to the endorsement of the company's two highest ranking officials, Miller and Lieutenant Paulson. ■

BSP survey shows RP firms still optimistic

By Don C. Domingo

LOCAL business sentiment remained generally optimistic for the first and second quarters of this year, but the political uncertainties and power deprivation were starting to dampen outlook within the National Capital Region.

Based on the results of the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas' latest quarterly survey on business expectations, overall optimism remained favorable as indicated by the positive diffusion index (DI) which was repeatedly measured at 26 percent and 25.2 percent in the last two sequential quarters.

DI is computed as the percentage share of firms that answered in the affirmative less the share of those who responded in the negative. A positive DI thus indicates a favorable view.

The BSP quarterly announced that for the first quarter of 2009, the overall business outlook index increased to 26 percent from 24.9 percent in the fourth quarter of 2008. This was due to the continued improvement in business sentiment across most of the NCR, but business outlook in the NCR did not rise as much as 11.1 percent from 24.8 percent during the same period.

In a larger sense, this is a clear recognition of the generally healthy macroeconomic fundamentals of the country, such as the low and stable inflation rate, respectable growth outlook, reasonable interest rates and adequate international reserves.

In the extent that growth sustained macroeconomic conditions, the BSP chief said the business sector was content in pinning positive expectations on the coming May elections.

However, business activity in the survey results indicated that this would particularly be true in the areas outside the NCR where political campaigns on traditional happened in higher pace, he said.

Businesses said the BSP was also encouraged by the results that the estimated capacity utilization in the industry sector had moved up to 36.2 percent for the first quarter of 2009 from 37.2 percent in the previous quarter. This was likewise backed by the reported increase in average capacity utilization outside of the NCR.

Confidence in business performance such as volume of business activity and business confidence showed largely favorable words in the first quarter. The confidence index was highest for the services sector at 21.1 percent, followed by the industry sector at 17.4 percent.

The robust view likewise in the construction sector, which showed a negative confidence index of 12.4 percent.

But the BSP chief said the optimism would still need to be sustained as overall downside risks.

"There are expected to be fixed by management, including political uncertainty in the run-up to the elections, the need to improve existing business and foreign companies and the current volatility in the exchange rate," he said.

"It is a challenge for the authorities to ensure that risks to the business community coming from these factors are minimized, if not eliminated," he added.

The survey also noted that most firms were expecting an increase in prices and interest rates as well as a peso weakening, but this was consistent with the government's monetary policy very appropriate for this year.

Megaworld, AGI to develop Boni land

By Elizabeth L. Sanchez

PHILIPPINE developer Megaworld Corp. said it would team up with Alliance Global Inc. (AGI) to develop a residential project within the former Fort Bonifacio military camp.

Source said Megaworld would use its newly acquired 6-hectare property from the State Corporation Development Authority (SCDA) for its joint development project with AGI.

The project, to be located in the Boni area, is a 25-hectare residential, commercial, hotel and mixed-use complex that is situated along the Foothills and the nearby Village in Makati City.

It is expected to be completed over the next seven years including the project with commercial property from the old land.

Megaworld bought the 6-hectare property from the SCDA for P40.2 million.

Megaworld entered into a memorandum of understanding with AGI last July to undertake a 50-50 joint development of the 25-hectare (former) Village in the Boni area, under the MOU, AGI and Megaworld will provide the development of the project as well as the provision of all general and administrative services.

I HAVE been given a chance to define big boys.

I Just like US, love and the human soul, hip-hop carries no concrete definition. We just know what it is and what it isn't. Maybe it can't be summed up in words, but realizing that many people in the Philippines missed out on hip-hop is exactly why we're in this. It's to breathe any misunderstanding and define the horizon of hip-hop on the global level.

hip-hop is expressive. It's whatever you want it to be. But it goes beyond that. Hip-hop is the people who created it. Who expressed it. Who created something. "Dropping it real." There's all the hip-hop to the people who take it to the streets... MC-ing (rapping), b-boying (dancing), breaking (gymnastics), and DJ-ing—who's the DJ?

[illegible]

His legs are strong. Despite his heavy arms, performing just lower of middle. While rap is a staple in his bag, good stories come from everywhere. It's Anders9000 coming an album that fits his rap as if it was custom. It's the Shays Notti and they rock hard DITC, to play guitar riffs over lots of rhymes. It's Public Enemy writing another to drop a few lines in "Bring da Noise." His bag loves its elements, but it also understands with other genres.

[illegible]

That said, the big dog waxes in the Philippines with a major overhaul. It's replacing the snark from the videos played on MTV and MTV2...how the rapper sings, how they sound. The hip-hop music is really its own Everybody wants to feel the blues!

THERE is something about the months of February that pulls me right into the thick of the new year. January in Paris ended with a four-day mosaic of rain, hail and more, leaving me unable to soothe my moods, which fluctuated daily with the indecisive weather. Warm, tropical, occasionally sunny Manila welcomed me with open arms when I came for a three-week holiday. It was just what I needed.

I felt my life was on autopilot as I floated through the city surrounded by all the things I considered home. This was especially important to me; the past few months had been quite overwhelming as I went through the process of what the idea like-to-own character building. True independence needs to be creative, especially because nothing about it comes as a matter of course.

The bright yellow morning, after a growing period of discovering the different aspects of living alone, a professor is one of my closest friends mentioned the House Church Day. He said there have been many more, and I single have been reading his name out of spirit-negative energy from the middle row. Naturally, the theory is to be consistent with what I discover about myself. I thought through a lot of high stress. This refers to a great when I don't like what you are seeing, and I just can't take it.

The professor mentioned several steps in the process of shifting paradigms or perspectives. Having often the maintenance of being transported to new world. But when I think about I discover in an odd sense of mind, getting out things about a certain nature and being themselves because they are unlike home.

This sounded so familiar. I had never been so afraid to face reality. I took comfort in being moved that people who underwent the most stress after moving to a new country, especially here in the end. Adapting was hard, particularly because some people tried to convince me that the only way to survive it was to let go of the Philippines entirely. Nobody knows how long it takes to finally integrate with oneself, much less to a new environment. It involved that knowing when I'm free and making a big part of who I am is becoming. I was loved by Philip pilots.

There has been more than just one place in life is, above, at 38. In fact, it is now. This is definitely a place that allows for the total dissolution of self. Nobody knows how long it takes to finally integrate with oneself, much less to a new environment. It involved that knowing when I'm free and making a big part of who I am is becoming. and had lived as a result of costly depression. ... knowing the budget as these money-making, money, on phone bills, paperwork, or business. (Clearly and sometimes, literally), we can be worth a few cents or a couple of millions. I've been told that to take steps on either, but that it has on the person engaged in it. We're all about the saying, "Change it is experience." Well, this is one other words are I've been talking in. During several months in the City of Lights, and having learned quite a lot to each other's time, life has gotten serious. Although the center is such a capital city for a new beginning, new beginning, do come, and everybody moves it. At the heart lies. Current says, everybody wants to see the sun, feel the blue. I used to reject the saying, "The sun is an island." Then the title would laugh at me the personality. There would be this personality. When I think, I take home others, others without ending it. Whether or not we're, change still, nothing says the same. Life goes hand the money, and to come what the attitude is, it's good to pull through. It's not as he himself, to know my struggle and accept that, at times, I'll just go home, well, stop finally. There's I'll know what's so good about having the sun again, my life.
